At Taverham Hall School we are proud of the cricket teams and cricketers we produce and with the exciting and dynamic way we play the game. Over the past years pupils have been selected to play for the county as well as the England Development Squad. Current BBC sports commentator and past England cricketer, Jonathan Agnew, started his career at Taverham Hall School!

To further enhance our established centre of excellence we are looking to recruit promising, enthusiastic cricketers who have aspirations to play the game at county, regional and even national level.

To facilitate the progress of these young cricketers we have a top team of coaches who work full time at the school led by Steve Goldsmith, the former Kent and Derbyshire all rounder and level three coach, who has experience of coaching up to England Age 17 Level Squads and is the current Norfolk Under 15's and 17's County Squad Manager.

He is assisted by the school's Deputy Head, Joel Worrall who was one of the youngest coaches to qualify through the New Zealand Cricket system. Head of History, Irving Newton, has seen at first hand what it takes for a cricketer to reach the first class game through the development of his son, former pupil Rob Newton, who currently opens the batting at Northants and has two first class centuries to his name. Last year he was the winner of 2011 Dennis Compton Award.

To assist our coaches in the development of our young cricketers we have:-

- a state of the art Sports Hall which includes some of the best cricket nets and lighting available outside the first class game, as well as a video facility
- extra practices outside the normal curriculum
- weekly competitive sporting fixtures in which to test their skills
- superb cricket squares and outdoor nets in beautiful surroundings
- entry into school, county, regional/national competitions

The school's sports hall is the Centre of Excellence for Norfolk Youth Cricket and in recent years the school's teams have won inter school cricket tournaments – most recently:

2011 - U11 County Cricket Champions • 2010 - U12 County Cricket Champions
